A WORTHY CANDIDATE.

The loyal voters of the Commonwealth ask no higher tribute to the worth and character of Judge Williams than the following neat compliment paid him by the only daily Democratic paper of Western Pennsylvania the day following his nomination. It said:

"The nomination of the Hon. Henry W. Williams as a candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court is a good one. He was the best man named before the Republican Convention, and possesses legal and moral qualifications for the responsible position to which he has been nominated. Both parties have now presented their candidates. An important duty has been faithfully discharged by the respective conventions. The campaign may now be conducted without personal aspersions, and decided upon the principles of the two great parties. This is as it should be. It is an auspicious sign of the times, and if the county conventions are equally fortunate in the selection of legislative candidates, there will be a stop put to the deplorable corruption at the seat of government under a new reign of honest men and conscientious legislators.—Pittsburgh Post, June 28th, 1867.

The Post, in referring to the above, on the 29th of August, was pleased to say

"We have nothing to take back or modify. Of Judge Williams' private or legal reputation we have nothing but words of praise, and however it may suit some pugnacious and heady politicians, we cannot bring ourselves to view personal assaults as either wise or politic."

CONCEDED.

The World is urging the "Conservatives," i. e. Johnson mongrels and Peace Democrats to vote for Judge Sharswood; and says:

"Judging from the tone of the Pennsylvania press, there is no dispute as to the qualifications of the two candidates for Chief-Justice, it being conceded that Judge Sharswood is the superior, in every respect, of his opponent."

The ear of the World is at fault, and requires a tuning fork. The tone of the loyal press of Pennsylvania is two octaves and a fifth above the pitch indicated. The old trombone of Democracy may concede equal qualifications of the two candidates; but the bugle of Liberty is tuned to the key of loyalty. This is the first qualification for every citizen, for every sovereign and servant of the State. In this vital qualification Judge Williams is eminently superior to his opponent; and in all other qualifications fully his equal. Being equal in legal ability and moral worth the choice lies between one who stood with his country's foes in the hour of her darkest peril; and one who has ever kept step to the music of the Union; between one whose election is urged by the World, the sympathizer with the New York riots; and one who has the honor of being opposed by that palladium of treason.

ATTEMPTS have often been made in this country to establish a Third Party; but failure has always been the result. What has been, will be; not by accident, but by inevitable consequence. All free States are necessarily governed by parties. They can be governed in no other manner. This affords room for two parties, and no more. These may be designated as—1st. The party that has the administration in its hands; and, 2d. The party that desires to get possession of the administration. Between these two all questions of policy are debated and finally decided. If a Third Party springs up, it is necessarily temporary and powerless. We say, necessarily, because no instance can be adduced in which a Third Party has come to anything. All results, whether large or small, have been accomplished by one or other of the two parties.

It is impossible, morever, to base a great national party on the requirements of a single class. Class legislation is always objectionable, whether the class is rated high or low. All laws ought to be predicated on conceptions of the general welfare; and only a party having such aims can so commend itself to the people as to become national.

These are self-evident truths in politics which receive fresh illustration in the Workingmen's movement. The basis is too narrow for general acceptance. There is only room for one class to stand; and one class never yet made up a nation and never will. The movement is predestined to failure; and hence to damage rather than benefit those in whose behalf it is ostensibly conducted.

WHILE the English and American press give us day by day column after column on ritualism and ecclesiastical millinary, few have a paragraph on the stubborn fact that in the diocese of London 200,000 children are without schools. In Manchester and Salford 49,000, 100,000 out door pauper children in the kingdom are totally uneducated. In '24 there was one day school for every 1,033 of population. In one district there are 120 parishes without a school. More than one-fourth of their soldiers cannot read, while the Churchmen and statesmen are moving heaven and earth about the gowns of the bishops. If better dresses would make them better men they should have them by all means.

THE Volksblatt (German) of yesterday denounces the whole Republican ticket, and calls upon its readers to defeat it.

Last winter this paper tried to pass itself off as Republican, on our City Councils, but failed, its friends being confronted with translations from its columns, showing its Copperhead character.

As soon as the election is over, its managers will be around again, appealing for Republican support, and representing it as a Republican paper. Let our Republican friends note the fact, therefore, that it is now a Copperhead sheet, and treat it as such after election.

FOR some days past the Washington specials have contained conflicting statements respecting the case of Mr. Jefferson Davis. It is now semi-officially announced that all these statements are without foundation. When a special correspondent has nothing to say, and yet has a necessity laid on him to fill a certain space, he must draw on his imagination for his facts.

THE President is said to be desirous of a democratic victory in Pennsylvania. No doubt of it; but he will not be gratified. The Republicans have the power, and will keep it.

THE Herald correspondence indicates that we are to be afflicted with another season of twaddle about Jefferson Davis. To try or not to try, is to be the question.

CROWDS of rebels, disfranchised by Congress and the people, are claiming the right of suffrage by virtue of Mr. Johnson's Amnesty Proclamation.

THE Public Ledger says a common house fly always sits, on a wall, with his head downward, a biting fly with his head up.

A BAD TEACHER.

The World is moved, to a two column leader, over the barbarous condition of Florida negroes. They believe in witchcraft and sorcery, have crude ideas of Christianity, are imposed upon by peddlars, and have no masters to teach them the better way! Alas! alas! one's heart aches at the account given of their ignorance and superstition; and the question is, where are the lost masters, those ministering angels who should protect them from Yankee imposters, and fetish superstitions? Have they all run away, and if so where is the effect of their former teaching? Slavery was a great missionary institution. The slaves of Florida must be native born; for, of course, Southern men, gentlemen, would not violate the compromises of the Constitution, and this forbade any importation for the past fifty-nine years. If, in this time, the masters failed to give the slaves correct ideas of Christianity there could be little hope they would ever succeed; and it was quite time they gave up the attempt. If the colored people of Florida are as barbarous as the World represents, is it not time the Government, of which they are wards, if not citizens, should appoint th em other teachers. It is of the utmost importance to the government that the people should be intelligent, industrious, virtuous, and if the Freedmen of the South are as ignorant and idle and vicious as the World represents it is the best possible argument in favor of changing their condition. If Slavery, after two hundred years of teaching, has left them barbarous it is time Freedom was appointed their Schoolmistress. If, in two centuries, she fails to teach them the A B C of Civilization, as her predecessor has done, let her be dismissed, and the old sch oo marm reappointed.

MORE THAN YOU CAN CARRY.

We are all familiar with the experiment of giving a child a large apple in each hand, and offering him a third. Each is very good, but all are more than he can carry. The Republicans of Kansas appear to be in similar trouble. They have Reconstruction and Negro Suffrage on hand, and want to grasp Woman Suffrage and Temperance. All this may be necessary to the ultimate perfection of the human race; but would it not be well to do one thing at a time? With Reconstruction on hand, and the large experiment of inducting the loyal negroes of the South into the full rights of citizenship, it might be prudent to see that experiment well tried and settled before insisting on anything more. The enfranchising of negroes, in the loyal States, can only be urged on the general principles of human rights; but the enfranchisement of the Southern negro becomes imperative in order to place those States in the hands of loyal men. Thousands of Republicans see this necessity who do not think it advisable that the experiment shall be universal. Let us complete the work of Reconstruction, get those States restored and secure against future rebellion, and we can settle other questions more at leisure. The pressing duty of the hour is unity amongst those who are in favor of placing the Southern States in the hands of their loyal citizens—of organizing governments there which shall make treason odious and loyalty the prime requisite of citizenship. This done, we shall have time enough to reconstruct society at the North.

AT LONDON, (Ontario,) on the 24th ult., Thomas Francis shot at his wife, who fled. He then attempted to shoot his son and a girl living in the family. After he had cleared the house he laid down on the lounge and shot himself through the head, causing instant death. He and his wife had been separated for some time. He came to see her and urge a reconciliation, and failing in this, was prepared for a general massacre and suicide, but only succeeded in the last part of his purpose.

JEFFERSON DAVIS IN CANADA.—The latest report concerning this noted person states that he is about taking up his residence in Toronto. He has for some months been a resident of Montreal, and the idea has become current that he was living like a retired monarch, courted by the Canadians, and worshipped by those who followed his fortunes, and "left their country for their country's good." The truth is, that Davis has for some months occupied an inferior house in Montreal, and his presence in that city is a matter of total indifference to the majority of those who live there. That he is not surrounded by any numerous cortege may be readily seen, when we state that scarcely a day passes over his head that he is not seen at the St. Lawrence Hotel, where his presence creates no more excitement than that of any other person who drops in to hear the news and see what is going on. His departure from Montreal will cause no regret, and his presence in Toronto will create a nine day's talk, when he will be dropped. Aaron Burr lived many years after the public had almost forgotten that such a man ever had an existence, and Jefferson Davis will no doubt follow in his footsteps.—Boston Journal, Sept. 28.

PARAGRAPHS.

—A distinguished Bishop, within the border of New England, on the occasion of a great marriage, when his church was crowded and noisy, the mass being impatient, and the greater portion standing upon the seats and backs of the pews, in his desperation exclaimed, "Will the people, remembering that this is God's house, be pleased to sit down on the floor and put their feet on the seats." The uproar that followed these words was perfect death, and the unconscious Bishop feel back into his chair, feeling that he had been grossly insulted in his own Cathedral.

—In the course of the discussion, which arose at the time when Dr. Bushnell's work "Vi in Christ" first appeared, a patriarchal pastor in Connecticut proposed in one of the Associations a resolution in condemnation, "Have you read the book?" inquired another. "No, I have not, and I don't want to, and I don't mean to." "Then, my good father," responded the interrogator, "your resolution hasn't any bottom to stand on." Next day it was told to Dr. Bushnell what father C. had said, and chastised, he, with a sly smile, replied: "Well, it don't make any difference, for he wouldn't have understood it if he had." Much of the controversy in our Church is of the same sort with this.

—The late Dr. Jenner, having discontinued his professional attentions upon a patient on account of her improved condition, sent a couple of ducks to the mother of the convalescing lady, accompanying the present with the following note:

I've dispatched, my dear madam, this scrap of a letter
To say that Miss Lucy is very much better:
A regular doctor no longer are lacks,
And therefore I've sent her a couple of quacks.

The lady addressed, returned thanks with this:

Yes, 'twas polite, truly, my good friend,
That "a couple of quacks" to your patient to send;
Since there's nothing so likely as "quacks" (it is plain),
To make work for a "regular doctor" again.

—A clergyman who was once delivering an extempore lecture on the first chapters of Genesis, and endeavoring to answer the question, who was Cain's wife, reached the following singular conclusion that Cain the eldest-born of Adam must have married his own wife." He meant sister; but the actual words were certainly the safest.

—Another clergyman (just married) undertaking to give out a notice of a meeting to be held at his house, which happened not to be a Rectory, said: "There will be service at my—our—at the house of the minister."

—"There's only two ways of getting along with the restaurant servants," says Bluster, 'either scold 'em well or tee 'em well. One takes nerve, the other takes money. I've got more nerve than money, so I scold 'em."

ERRONEOUS STATEMENTS CONCERNING THE RECONSTRUCTION LAW.

An opinion prevails extensively throughout the country that the reconstruction law of the Fortieth Congress requires a majority of all the registered voters in the Southern States to authorize the holding of Constitutional Conventions, which is erroneous, as the law reads as follows: "If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a Convention, then such Convention shall be held under the laws hereby provided; but, if a majority of said votes be against a Convention, then no such Convention shall be held under this Act: Provided, that such Convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters have voted on the question of holding such Convention."

TRIAL OF JEFF. DAVIS.

All the statements heretofore published regarding the trial of Jeff Davis have been mere surmises, and the Government has not authorized them, nor has it made public any intimation of what it intends doing. It is semi-officially announced that the Government will ask for another delay when the trial comes on in November next, and that the counsel for the accused will then make a motion to enter a nolle prosqui. Judge Chase will be present, but it is not yet settled whether Judge Chase will preside. The motion to quash will be argued and decided probably the first early part of the term. It is due to Attorney General Stanberry to say, that although he has been consulted regarding the matter, and may have advised the prospective delay, he cannot be held accountable for the manner in which the case is conducted. He compiled with District Attorney Chandler's request for assistance in prosecuting the trial by employing Hon. Wm. Evarts as assistant counsel, consequently Mr. Chandler is alone responsible.

WHAT THE PRESIDENT WILL DO.

During a recent interview with an old Tennessee friend, the purport of which has been retailed publicly, Mr. Johnson stated he would take his final stand against Congress, by vetoing its right, if it assumed it, to suspend him during the progress of the impeachment trial, if he was impeached. So many will not like the threat, but it is probable that the first opportunity afforded the President to take a stand against Congress on this subject will be to veto a bill providing for a suspension from office of all public officers who may have been impeached, until they have been tried, which will undoubtedly be introduced and passed early in the session.

PUBLIC DEBT STATEMENT.

The statement of the public debt for September will be issued to-morrow. It will show a reduction of the debt, but not to the extent given in the August statement. Both the internal revenue and customs receipts fell off in September. During the last half of this month the returns from internal revenue and customs averaged more than a quarter of million per day.

OHIO AND PENNSYLVANIA ELECTIONS.

In regard to the Ohio election, bets were made to-day by Republicans that they will carry that State by 25,000 majority, and the constitutional amendment, enfranchising the colored man, by 5,000 majority. These bets found ready takers among the Democrats, who pretend to believe that they will carry Ohio by a small majority, or at least have hope enough to defeat the constitutional amendment.

Great interest is also felt in the Pennsylvania election. Many of the leading Democrats desire to carry the Keystone State for the Democrats, as upon such a result he would base his opposition to Congress.

WASHINGTON, October 1, 1867.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

A letter was received at the office of Indian Affairs, signed by the head Chiefs of the Osage Indians, and dated at Osage Nation, south of Kansas, stating their desire to remain on friendly terms with the United States government.

SANITARY INFORMATION.

The Secretary of State, at the request of the Dutch Minister, sent a circular to the Mayors of the principal cities, asking copies of all the laws, regulations and ordinances for the preservation or improvement of the sanitary condition of our cities. This and all correlative information is desired by the Netherlands government.

THE BRADLEY-FISHER DIFFICULTY.

The Committee appointed by the members of the bar last August to investigate the difficulty between counsellor Bradley and Judge Fisher, are getting out of the Supreme Court trial, reported at an adjourned meeting to day. The report quotes from Rhinehart's recommendations to show what constitutes a contempt, and declares that Mr. Bradley should have had opportunity for explanation. Three Judges are required to admit, and certainly one could not expel an attorney. The report recommends the adoption of a resolution declaring the action of Judge Fisher striking Mr. Bradley's name from the roll null and void. A second resolution authorizes the Chairman to present the report of the Committee to the Court.

Some weeks ago other members of the bar passed resolutions sustaining Judge Fisher.

ORDER FOR THE ISSUE OF THREE PER CENT. CERTIFICATES.

The Secretary of the Treasury, considering the act of Congress of March 3d, 1867, mandatory, has this day issued the following: "Whereas there has been in the Assistant Treasurer at New York's hands and has been instructed to issue three per cent. certificates, in pursuance of the act of Congress, approved March 2d, 1867, in the denomination of $5,000 and $10,000 each, in redemption of the original five-twenty notes maturing in October and December next. The accrued interest on all notes presented for such redemption will be paid in currency."

WHISKEY FRAUDS AT RICHMOND—ATTEMPTS AT SEIZURE RESISTED.

A Washington special to the New York Post says the Internal Revenue Bureau has received information this morning from the office of the Fifth District, Virginia, that extensive frauds in distilling of whisky have been discovered at Richmond. An effort to seize an establishment was unsuccessful, two persons, however, with a large body of men and forced to retire. Measures have been taken to suppress the establishment, but further trouble was anticipated.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.

The public debt statement will be ready to be issued to-morrow. It will show no reduction in the total debt. The principal change since the last statement is in gold in the Treasury, which shows an increase over the amount held in August.

PRINTING OF IMPEACHMENT TESTIMONY SUSPENDED.

The printing of the impeachment testimony has been suspended for the present, and will not be resumed till the week previous to the re-assembling of Congress. This is deemed necessary to prevent it being known before presentation to Congress, the obligations of secrecy imposed upon the employees of the Government printing office not being deemed sufficient to keep the testimony out of the hands of newspaper correspondents.

JEFF. DAVIS' TRIAL.

It is understood the trial of Jeff Davis was considered in the Cabinet meeting to-day.

ARMY ORDERS.

Brevet Major General James A. Hardee, Inspector General, has been ordered to Fort Larned, Kansas, on special service. Brevet Major General Clark is assigned to duty as Chief Commissary, Division of Missouri, at St. Louis, relieving Brevet Brigadier General L. I. Haines, who reports to General Sherman. Brevet Colonel J. McL. Taylor has been ordered to report General Halleck. W. F. Barry, Colonel Second Artillery, has been relieved from his present command and ordered to the Department of California. Brevet Colonel Peter C. Hains, Corps of Engineers, has been assigned to duty at St. Louis.

NEXT NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION—PLACE OF HOLDING IT.

A member of the National Republican Executive Committee says that correspondence has taken place between many members of the Committee relative to the place of holding the next National Convention Chicago, Indianapolis and Cincinnati, are the most prominent places suggested. It seems probable that Chicago will be fixed upon.

NAVAL ENGINEER SERVICE.

The Navy Department will incorporate a limited number of engineers into the regular service. Persons who have served not less than two years during the rebellion can make application for examination, stating their age and forwarding letters of recommendation. The Board of Examination is in session at Philadelphia.

THE TREASURY PORTFOLIO.

Another Washington special says it is reported that Robert J. Walker has been tendered the Treasury portfolio by the President, and may be required to assume the office immediately after the Fall elections.

INTERNAL REVENUE.

The receipts from Internal Revenue sources to-day were $755,000. The aggregate receipts for September were $15,000,000.

New Haven Horse Fair—Large Number of Entries.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, Ct., October 1.—The fifth national fair of the New Haven Horse Association opened this morning at Hamilton Park. Every class was filled at an early hour, one hundred and thirty-eight entries having been made. A large number of people were in attendance, and everything passed off satisfactorily. Dan Rice won the purse of two hundred and fifty dollars for the fastest stallions; time 2.36, 2.37, and 2.34. Dan Rice, Lucy and Old Put are entered for a big race on Thursday. The city is filled with strangers attending the fair.

CROTON BANK CLOSED.

The Croton National Bank was closed by the Government Examiner this morning, under section 46th of the banking law, having failed to to redeem its circulating notes in lawful money on demand. A receiver will probably be appointed to-morrow. The capital of the bank was $200,000, a considerable part of which appears to have been lost. The circulation is $180,000, which, of course, is secured and will be redeemed at the treasury with proceeds of bonds placed at Washington. The deposits amount to some $300,000, one-third from country creditors, and will probably all be paid eventually. The bank has no Wall street deposits, and its failure has scarcely produced any effect.

SALE OF GOVERNMENT VESSELS.

Eleven Government vessels were sold at auction to-day: The ship North Carolina, for $30,000; steamers: Rhode Island, $70,000; Augusta, $60,000; Massachusetts, $30,000; Pontiac, $17,000; Estella, $7,000; Commerce, $26,000; Tahoma, $13,000; Sonora, $16,000, Osceola, $16,000.

MASKED WIFE MURDER.

Robert Hays attempted to murder his wife in Brooklyn last night. She jumped from a window, twenty-five feet to the ground, and is probably fatally injured. The man was arrested.

THE BASE BALL CHAMPIONSHIP.

It appears that the Atlantics have not given up the base ball championship. They have protested against the game to-day, as three of their nine were disabled; but the Athletics refusing, the Atlantics put a muffin nine in the field, with whom the Athletics refused to play.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

A boiler exploded with terrific force in the brewery of Edward Seibt, at Newark, on Monday evening, by which two men were killed. A dwelling house adjoining was also shattered, and the inmates escaped with slight injuries.

CABINET SHOP BURNED.

A fire last night burned Peter Seltzer's cabinet shop, Flushing avenue, Brooklyn, and three tenements. Loss $12,000; mostly insured.

A BRUTAL HUSBAND.

THRIVING BOOK-KEEPER.

Messrs. Hallon & Bros., Broadway, have been robbed by a book-keeper, to the amount of four thousand dollars. The thief has been arrested.

MORE WHISKY SEIZURES.

Several whisky seizures were made today, including the rectifying establishment of Walter Scott, John street, Brooklyn.

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY RUMOR.

The Daily News has a report that the President has tendered the Secretaryship of the Treasury to Robert J. Walker, and that he will be required to assume the duties immediately after the Fall elections.

CONNECTICUT BANK DEFALCATION.

The bank defalcation in Connecticut is in Litchfield county, and not in Hartford. The cashier's name is Conklin, and the funds were lost in stock speculations.

FIRE IN BROOKLYN.

The steam mill of Sherman Bros., in Brooklyn, was totally destroyed by fire this evening. Loss, $60,000; fully insured in New York and Brooklyn offices. A dwelling adjoining was also destroyed. Loss, $30,000; insured.

SHERIDAN WILL GO TO ALBANY.

General Sheridan has accepted the invitation of Governor Fenton to visit Albany.

PHILADELPHIA.

Ovation to Sheridan and Sickles—Their Departure—Republican Enthusiasm—Gov. Geary at Germantown, &c., &c.

[From our Special Correspondent.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30, 1867.

The last, has been a week of excitement, politically speaking; we have had the two great martyrs here, the men who have lost their political heads, for doing what they and the majority of the people supposed to be their duty. The ovation to Sheridan upon the night of his arrival, was unprecedented in the annals of the town. One old, very old man told me he remembered but two occasions when the excitement had seemed so general and the feeling so deep; one was the reception of the father of his country, when Philadelphia was scarcely more than a village, and the other was when the dead mourned in the world over the pall of our lamented President.

And the ovation has continued ever since the little cavalier first put his foot off the cars until last night, when thousands of the people escorted him from the house of his friends in Germantown to the cars for Newark.

The Union League House, that temple of Radicalism, has been gorgeously illuminated every night, and twice has it been crammed, tremendous in their size and purport, have thundered their approval of the sentiments of Kelley, Pinkney and Sickles, and other distinguished martyr guest, Sickles. Gen. Sheridan, in imitation of his great commander, has made no public appearance, saving a few words of thanks to the Mayor, on his reception at Independence Hall. But Sickles has proved himself to be a genuine son of the apostate, from the portico of the League House, in a voice loud enough to awake the dead Confederates at Gettysburg, thundered forth: "No one is here in the interest of Andrew Johnson." Third denounces Congressmen for passing unconstitutional laws; Fourth expresses doubts of the Republicans having sympathy for soldiers; Fifth proclaims the doctrine that American citizens when abroad shall not be subject to arrest for words spoken at home; this was received with shouts from the Fenians; Sixth promises the co-operation of the Democrats of Massachusetts in the uprising in Ireland; the country; Seventh expresses alarm at the increase of the State debt; Eighth endorses the labor movements; Ninth declares that the Democratic party is opposed to infractions of individual rights, and enforcement of the laws tarnished the espionage of paid spies as infamous.

The resolutions were severally and as a whole adopted, the Convention giving three hearty cheers.

The Committee on Credentials reported two hundred and nineteen names represented by nine hundred and sixty-three delegates.

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—A fire this morning destroyed the buildings on Sarrent's wharf, occupied by the Boston Linseed Company, whose loss, with that of the tenants, will reach $100,000; also a building occupied by the Bay State Sugar Refining Company. The latter establishment is owned by Messrs. & Tillaton, and contained a large quantity of sugar and valuable machinery, the loss on which is estimated at $150,000. The losses are mostly covered by insurance.

REPUBLICAN WORKINGMEN, LOOK HERE.

The Post of yesterday, in a double-leaded editorial, calls lustily upon the democrats who, it says, "have been led away, for a moment only," into supporting the Workingmen's Ticket, to leave that party, and vote the entire Democratic ticket.

The admission that the Democrats who have taken part in the Workingmen's movement, have done it "for a moment only," is a confession of what we have been charging all along, that they were acting merely as decoys for Republicans, their object being not to vote the Workingmen's ticket themselves, but to induce as many Republicans as possible to do so.

The Post admits this, and every unprejudiced man must realize the truth of it. The time for playing the role of "Workingmen" has come to an end with these democrats, and the Post accordingly sounds its bugle to re-call them to the camp of the faithful. Having done all they could to seduce Republicans from their party, they must hurry back into the democratic fold, and spend what little time there is left in helping the democratic ticket. They have been playing the hypocrite long enough, the democratic candidate for Senate thinks, and hence this solemn call upon them to throw off all disguise and show themselves in their true colors.

The Republicans who have been led away into this third party movement should have their eyes opened by this development. The democrats who began this movement with them never intended to act in good faith. It is an old trick of theirs. They are always active in promoting third parties, because they hope to induce Republicans to join with them in all the measures preliminary to an election, and then abandon them when the election comes. They will do that here. The Post indicates the programme to the letter; and no Republican suffering himself to be deceived by them, can plead ignorance of their hypocrisy as his excuse.

CONSOLIDATION.

We have recently passed under review several of the aspects of the question of Municipal Consolidation, which is to be determined by the voters of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and the contiguous boroughs at the State election to be held next Tuesday. To day we wish especially to direct attention to two other points.

1. Consolidation, to a certain extent, has recently occurred on the North side; that is, Manchester and other corporations have united to Allegheny. All the arguments so far adduced against the complete consolidation now proposed were just as cogent against that which has been consummated. Not a reason of any weight has been assigned in opposition to the union of all the corporations, which did not bear with equal force against the aggrandizement of Allegheny by absorption of the municipalities adjacent thereto. Indeed, the legislation by which that agglomeration was effected was part of the scheme for combining all the districts under one government. Not a voice has been heard from Allegheny protesting against the annexations by which her territorial limits were enlarged. Instead, there has been universal acquiescence in the result as altogether proper and beneficial. We plead this general consent on the North side; this unqualified recognition of the undesirableness of many corporations in place of one; as a full and conclusive answer to all that has been urged, or may hereafter be urged, from that quarter, against the farther Consolidation now contemplated. If the citizens of Allegheny do not believe in Consolidation, let them show their faith by their works; let them at once initiate measures for restoring Manchester and the other boroughs or townships recently absorbed to their former independent condition. Until this shall be done, it will be fair to conclude that all clamor against Consolidation raised by any of them proceeds from other considerations than those of public utility.

2. Within the territory which it is proposed to consolidate under one municipal government, there are now living nearly, if not quite, two hundred thousand people. Before the present century shall close the population gathered within this narrow domain will at least be doubled. To receive and properly arrange for this vast increase, which is by no means imaginary, but reasonably calculable, several things are absolutely indispensable.

(a.) That the suburbs should be put under such uniform administration as to streets, water, gas, and other improvements requisite to health and comfort, and comporting with the just ideas of modern civilization, as to afford localities where families may comfortably and cleanily domiciled. Such accommodations are wanted, not simply for families of wealth, who are able to invest from twenty-five thousand dollars up to two or three hundred thousand dollars in a residence and its appurtenances; but for families of quite moderate means. This can only be done by forethought and preparation. Just here we may as well say that the arguments presented to countervail this consideration are not only worthless, but puerile. As, for instance, it has been urged that in other cities streets are opened, sidewalks paved, curb stones set, and corner lights provided, before the space is actually needed for occupancy. Does a man build a house before he lays a foundation? Such preparations are precisely the things demanded by the exigencies of the case. Then rich and poor alike can find at fair prices places in which tidily to bestow their families. The recompense to the immediate property holders cannot be otherwise than abundant; and the general advancement will amply remunerate all others. The great drawback to Pittsburgh is that, while it is a good business point, it is not desirable as a place of residence. This is a serious matter, and must be remedied. As we judge, the only efficient remedy can come through consolidation; and, hence, we press it.

(b.) An efficient police is essential to the peace and good order of a dense population. The larger the number of people living upon a given amount of territory, and the greater the accumulation of property, the more urgent the need of police. The dangerous classes as naturally burrow in cities as wild beasts in forests or jungles. Hence the absurdity of insisting that so large a population as is now gathered here—much more so great a population as is in near prospect—shall be governed by appliances adapted only to populations strictly rural or nearly so.

There is nothing that deserves the name of police either in Pittsburgh or Allegheny. It is practicable for two expert burglars acting in concert, to enter a store, warehouse, or office in either city, and with comparative impunity. All they have to do, is for one of them to detain a watchman on his long beat, with some sort of questioning, while the other makes an entrance into the premises selected for enterprise. Even the bridges, after nightfall have become unsafe for females. The meagerness of the police force is aggravated by having the territory that ought to be vigilantly guarded, cut up into narrow districts, and authority sub-divided. This evil has many aspects, which we cannot fully consider now.

(c.) The objection made to this is that public improvements and a proper police cost money. Dear, economic souls! we are aware they do. Indeed, we know of no one thing, except sunlight and air, but what cost money; and even these cost unless they are taken primatively, in an open field. A great city is a costly machine; and they who expect to run one of them, so as to get all the resultant benefits while carrying none or few of the inevitable burdens, make a calculation most likely to result in disappointment.

In spending money—and money is good for nothing except to spend—the main thing is to be sure and get the money's worth. This makes it imperative in all men who want to be thrifty, to watch their outgoes; not to see that no money goes out, but to take care that what is expended counts to beneficial purposes, and for all it ought to. Individuals there are who would get rich, if they were not too stingy. They pinch so closely that the pinching tends to poverty. "The liberal soul shall be made fat." This is the only kind of soul it is worth while to have fat.

So, in the matter of public expenditures, it is not only well but indispensable to see that all moneys appropriated for any purpose whatever are wisely used, and that none are stolen by the persons charged with the disbursement. It is, also, as needful for a corporation as for an individual, to keep fairly within its means; to go no faster than the circumstances justly warrant.

(d.) A good deal has been said and printed against Consolidation, particularly as bearing upon increased expenses, that is altogether undeserving of serious reflection. The logic of this stuff would lead those who use it to abandon civilized life, to make their habitations in caves dug in the sides of hills, to eat wheat in the sheaf like oxen, and to go down bodily to the Allegheny or Monongahela for their drink. Civilization cannot be maintained on such terms as they indicate.

This locality, embracing the two cities and the adjacent boroughs, has a noble destiny before it, if its present population can be made to perceive their opportunity and stretch out resolute hands to grasp it. It can maintain and expand indefinitely its renown as a workshop, in which ingenious men exercise many of the arts of the best modern life, and at the same time be made attractive, in many of its districts, as a place of abode, not for the rich alone, as at Oakland, but for all of every financial grade who contribute by the labor of muscles or of brains to its advancement. To this end we urge our readers within the prescribed limits, carefully to reflect, and then to vote for Consolidation.

Sketches in Holland.

A writer in the Pall Mall Gazette sketches very pleasantly some peculiarities of Dutch scenery and manners. We make a few quotations:

THE ODDITY OF HOLLAND.

Everything in Holland is interesting, and almost everything is queer. There is a piquant oddity in the artificial nature of the whole country; the sandy soil, which is a triumph of patient ingenuity and creative skill; the wind pitted against the water to keep the land from flooding; the canals instead of roads; the ditches instead of hedges; and the unvarying level of the broad flats, there being no such a thing as a rising ground fifty feet high from one end of Holland to the other. Perhaps nothing strikes the English traveller in Holland so much as the want of stones. You cannot find so much as a pebble to throw at a dog—if, indeed, the Dutch dogs were not far too well behaved (which they are) ever to suggest such an outrage. You do, it is true, see in their proper places vast masses of granite and large blocks of basalt; but all these come from Norway, and are brought here at great expense; and are economized as elsewhere people economize porphyry and marble. In fact, stones in Holland are as much an article of import, of foreign merchandize, of purchase, as wine is in England. Countless vessels arrive, or have arrived here, laden with no other cargo.

THE DUTCH CITIES—A CONTRAST.

Utrecht, Leyden, Haarlem, have an aspect at once riant, venerable and comfortable, which offers a singular combination. The Hague looks like wealth and luxury embodied; probably it would be impossible to find in any part of the world a city which gives to the eye of a stranger so vivid an impression of established, assured, habitual affluence—of quiet, refined, perhaps somewhat lazy and sleepy enjoyment of life. Amsterdam has often been compared to Venice; but no two cities, with so many striking points of resemblance, were ever so strikingly unlike. Both owe their commerce, and have been as princes and monarchs in the commercial world; both are built on piles; both stand on what nature intended to be sea or marsh; in both the streets are waterways; both, alas, stink horribly in August. But Venice is of the past, Amsterdam of the present; Venice is clad in gloomy black, Amsterdam glitters in the gayest colors; the marble palaces of Venice are impressive with the solemn "venture of decay;" the docks and warehouses of Amsterdam are enlivening from the spirit of restless enterprise which they embody; lastly, the one city is all bustle and activity, the other all brooding silence; the one has the splendor of life, the other the grandeur of death.

Breckinridge's Last Official Act.

"John C. Breckinridge, at a dejeuner yesterday, told us of his last act of authority as Secretary of War. It was on the coast of Florida—the General was pursued by the Federal cavalry; they were beating the country in every direction. A friend in need came to his rescue—he was one of Brevard's gallant old regiment, of the Army of Virginia. He said: 'General, I have an old boat here that must carry us to Kurby; anyhow we'll try it on.' So he worked away all that night raising the boat from where he had sunk it to conceal it from prowling Yankees. He worked faithfully and energetically in patching it up and bailing it, artificially finishing it up and putting in a few provisions. Gen. B. grasped the noble fellow by the hand and said to him: 'I will have but few more hours of authority, but such services as you have rendered your country deserve reward. You shall be a Major; I will make out your commis ion now.' He was exceedingly thankful, but remained scratching his head in a thoughful attitude. 'Well, my friend,' said the General. 'Well, you see Ginerral, thar's a feller in our regiment what hain't done nothin', and he is a Major and a Quartermaster, and if it is all the same to you, I would just like to rank him for onst.' It is needless to say that the 'going out' Secretary of War instantly wrote the battle-scarred but humble hero a commission as Lieutenant-Colonel."

GETTING RICH OUT WEST.—James Thompson went from Pennsylvania to Scott county, Iowa, a dozen years ago, worth a few hundred dollars. He now owns forty-four farms, averaging 160 acres each, or in all about 7,000 acres of land, at least half of which is under cultivation; the whole will be next year. The land lies in Scott and Cedar counties. The past year he has put under cultivation 2,200 acres of new land. He is now having twenty farm dwellings of six rooms each, framed and gotten ready in Davenport, so they can be hauled to his farms and set up for his tenants. The tenants get one third of the crop and $2 an acre for farming new land, and the same share of the crop with 75 cents to $1 an acre for cultivated land.

—One hundred and sixty business and dwelling houses have been erected in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, the past year. They cost $357,450.

GENERAL NEWS.

—Nebraska votes for local officers in October. There are no prominent questions to enlist attention, and the vote will probably be light.

—Iowa now has twelve hundred and twenty miles of railroad completed and in running order, which has cost, in construction the sum of $47,490,000.

—James A. Cutting, the inventor of the Ambrotype picture, died some days since in an insane asylum near Boston. He had been an inmate of the institution for some time past.

—The Chicago papers say that the majority of the hackmen of that city are thieves and murderers, who will kill and rob their passengers at every opportunity, especially at night.

—The body of Dr. D. D. Cameron, a well known citizen of La Crosse, Wis., who disappeared about six weeks since, was found in the Mississippi River, in front of that city, on Monday.

—Arizona papers say the only question of pressing interest for the next Legislature will be the location of the territorial capital. The strife is between Prescott and Tucson, and one or two other places are in Illona.

—The contract for grading the Whitehall and Plattsburg (N. Y.) Railroad from Plattsburg to the Ausable river has been made, and the work will commence in a few days. It must be completed by the first of October, 1868.

—A chap in Piqua, Ohio, was married last week, his father giving invitations to a large company to attend the bridal feast. They had a scant allowance of beer and cheap cake, and the old gentleman charged his guests fifty cents each for the "supper."

—The London Telegraph says: "The rivalry between north and south, not only as regards racehorses, but as also as regards special products, or even literature, is rapidly disappearing. The very dialects of Yorkshire and Somersetshire are in course of assimilation to each other through the mighty invention of Stephenson."

—There is a proposal to amalgamate the thirteen London gas companies into four, assigning to the four separate districts. The companies in the first district, in the year 1866, supplied 2,650,832,000 cubic feet of gas; the second, 2,761,017,000 cubic feet; the third, 1,690,340,551 cubic feet; and the fourth, 1,551,328,000 cubic feet.

—The Nashville Times hears it reported that a company of Pennsylvania capitalists have bought about forty thousand acres of valuable iron lands in Hickman and adjoining counties, and are making preparations to manufacture railroad iron, spikes, chains and articles of hollow ware. They have a charter to construct a railroad to Clarkesville and Corinth.

—Morrissey, a young man employed in Boyle's shoe factory, in Fitchburg, Mass., in conveying a box of shoes from the upper story, on Wednesday, slipped and rolled down two flights of stairs, at the foot of which was an open scuttle, through which he fell to the basement. Though he fell four stories, he was not injured, beyond a few scratches and slight bruises upon his face and arms.

—The Rebel Gen. N. B. Forrest has at last replied to the charge of murdering the Fort Pillow garrison. He says that the garrison numbered about 550, of whom he can account for over 300—of these 65 wounded were put aboard a United States gunboat, and 250 were taken prisoners and handed over to Gen. Polk. Forrest denies emphatically the charges of brutality, and says the evidence before the Congressional Committee fully proves him innocent.

—A sad and unusual accident occurred on Wednesday, at West Glenville, resulting in the death by drowning of a child of Conrad Kerste of that place, in the eighteenth month of its age. The circumstances were as follows: The mother was engaged in quilting in the house, while in another room stood a tub of water. The child was about the house as usual. When the mother subsequently came into the room where the tub of water stood, she discovered her child in the tub with its head under water and its feet sticking out. Upon being taken out the child was found to be drowned.

A DANGEROUS SEASON.

An almost unparalleled quantity of rain has fallen during the summer. Vegetation has been wonderfully thick and rank, and, as there is an unusual amount of sickness may be expected unless proper means are taken to prevent it.

Fever and ague and bilious remittents already prevail to an alarming extent, and as the fall advances and the nights become longer and heavier, the sick list is likely to increase both in the city and the country. It is, therefore, only an act of common prudence to keep the vital forces in full vigor, so that they may resist the unhealthy influences of the season. Re-inforced by the tonic operation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the system, however weak and susceptible, naturally will, by nine cases out of ten, successfully combat every species of atmospheric poison by which epidemics are produced. During the months of September, October and November, the difference in temperature between day and night is very great, and the chilling dews and mists of the evening, bring on periodic centers of indigestion, cholera morbus, diarrhœa and dysentery, a fearful thing to think of, remember, also, that the BITTERS do not only invigorate the stomach and bowels, but also act beneficially upon the bowels and the liver, imparting to those important organs regularity and tone. It is not reasonable to suppose that such prevalent complaints if no precautions are taken to escape them.

HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are at once pleasant to the taste, and the most certain of all safeguards against febrile ailments.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which had been advised to "let alone" on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten on my lungs. I knew that the popular mode of treating disease like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to a discharge which I was constrained to believe was a salutary provision of Nature to get rid of some morbid condition in the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying to the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could without cutting, which I had it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applies done you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, C—.

SWORD'S SELF-TEMPERING STEAM POWER BRICK MACHINE,

MANUFACTURED BY THE
PITTSBURGH BRICK MACHINE AND BRICK MANUFACTURING CO.

This Machine takes the clay direct from the bank, without the preparation, by soaking necessary for "pug mill" machines, and tempers it thoroughly, pressing in steel moulds, brick stiff enough to be piled up right from the yard as made. For cutting with the trowel, boring hard stone, and making a strong, true wall, there are no better brick known. The cost of making here by this machine is from 95 cents to $1.10 per 1,000, according to the rates of wages. This we guarantee. The machine is built entirely of iron and steel; and in the best style for strength and permanent use in working clay. Apply for circulars, giving full information, at the office,

THE COURTS.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Sterrett.

This Court met Tuesday morning, at ten o'clock. The following business was disposed of:

VERDICT.

The jury in the case of the Commonwealth vs. John C. Graham, indicted for the larceny of beef from the Diamond Market House, returned a verdict of guilty, recommending the prisoner to the mercy of the Court. Sentence deferred.

PICKPOCKET DISPOSED OF.

George Rodgers, charged with picking the pocket of Robert B. McClure, of Washington county, in a street car, on the 25th ult., of a pocket book containing sixty dollars, was brought out of prison for trial. He put in a plea of guilty, and was sentenced to four years imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Daniel Donahne was tried upon an indictment for assault and battery, on oath of James Braine, of Lawrenceville. It appeared that the prosecutor was knocked down and kicked and other violence used upon him. The jury convicted, and Donahue was sentenced to pay a fine of twenty dollars.

William Dibacher was tried on an indictment for assault and battery, on oath of Francis Ketterle, alleged to have been committed on the night of the 15th of September. The information in the case, made before Alderman (or Justice) Arent, of the Seventh ward, Allegheny city, (late Lowrie township,) read as follows: "That William Dibacher and Christopher Zang did commit an assault and battery upon the person of deponent by catching him by the throat and choking him. Deponent further says that William Dibacher followed him and hit him with a brick, and also struck his wife and deponent." Ketterle testified (through an interpreter) that about twelve o'clock in the night he was awakened by Dibacher and others and went out in his pants and shirt to a place where there was a party drinking lager beer; there was some conversation about school tatics, Dibacher protesting against being taxed for free schools while the Catholic school was battery; fault was also found with the prosecutor, Dibacher saying that he had paid the wrong taxes. Ketterle went home, and in the morning he was called out of his house, Dibacher saying "you s——b——, you've got to die," and as Ketterle was returning from the spring with a bucket of water, Dibacher hissed a dog on him, then stexed him by the throat, and knocked him down with a stone. The parties reside on Troy Hill. Counsel withdrew the plea of not guilty, and entered that of guilty. Defendant was sentenced to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs.

In a surety case, in which the same parties were concerned, Dibacher was ordered to pay the costs.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Jacob Woirod was arraigned upon an indictment charging him with committing an aggravated assault and battery upon one Henry Fahr. The assault was alleged to have been committed on Monday, June 10th, on Spring Garden road, Allegheny city. The testimony offered for the prosecution was to the effect that Fahr was knocked down by the defendant, and the latter struck him twice after he had fallen. Drs. Hamilton and Sleigier testified that they had attended Fahr while he was suffering from his injuries, and that he had been confined to his bed for five or six weeks; that during a portion of that time he was unconscious, and was unable to speak from paralysis of the tongue, resulting from injuries to the base of the brain. For the defense, it was attempted to be shown that the assault was committed upon Fahr while the defendant was endeavoring to rescue a little boy whom he was maltreating. The defense, however, was a failure, and the main part of the evidence was simply as to the character of the defendant for peace.

Counsel for defense proposed to withdraw the plea of not guilty and enter that of guilty of simple assault and battery, but the defendant refused to allow this to be done. After consultation with his counsel, defendant agreed to plead as desired, but the Court insisted the case should go to the jury. A verdict of guilty was returned by the jury. Sentence deferred.

Bankruptcy Business.

During the month of September fifty petitions in Bankruptcy were filed in the office o. S. C. McCandless, Esq., clerk of the U. S. District Court. Of this number seven of the petitions were from the Twelfth Congressional District, five from the Thirteenth, five from the Fourteenth, four from the Seventeenth, seven from the Eighteenth, twelve from the Nineteenth, nine from the Twentieth, six from the Twenty-second, and two from the Twenty-fourth. The largest number of petitions filed since the act went into operation is one hundred and sixty-six.

Common Pleas—Judge Mellon.

The Shaw divorce case continued on trial yesterday, and was not concluded at adjournment.

A Sad Case—Fearful Apprehension—Wife and Children Missing.

We learned yesterday of a circumstance of a most heart rending nature, the facts of which, in so far as we were able to ascertain them, are as follows:

Mrs. Murray, wife of Louis Murray, a resident of Wylie street, this city, has, for a number of years been subject to fits of temporary insanity, caused, it was thought, from a severe attack of fever. When laboring under these periodical aberrations she became ungovernable, and evinced a desire to destroy herself, as well as to take the life of others. About two years since the insanity came upon her suddenly while there was no person in the house except herself and one of her children, a little boy about three years of age, whom she killed by beating his brains out with a poker, after which she left the house and ran through the streets raving mad, until arrested by the police. Her husband hearing of her condition, returned to the house, where he was met by a scene shocking beyond description—his little son lying on the floor dead, with his head beaten in by the hands of his own mother, then sitting in one corner of the room, guarded by a policeman, who could scarcely prevent her from taking her own life, so wild was her frenzy. She was at once sent to an insane hospital where she remained about two weeks since, when she was discharged and returned to her home. It was presumed in a sound state of mind. She had evinced no signs of insanity whatever for one year, and her husband, who of all others had most reason to fear, ceased to watch her and tremble at the fearful collection of the past, and had been lulled into the belief that the cure was a permanent one. On Friday of last week he left home in the morning and went to his work as usual, leaving his wife and two little children, a girl and boy, aged respectively seven and two years, in the house. Having taken his dinner with him he did not return until evening, when he found the house deserted, but thinking perhaps his wife and children were visiting a neighbor's, gave himself no concern until an hour had passed, when, becoming uneasy, he went in search of them, but on arriving at the place where he expected to find them was informed that they had not been there that day. He continued to search during the night, and up to this present time, but has failed to find any trace of either wife or children. Mr. Murray is a man of about forty-five years of age, and the agony and terrible suspense of the last few days appears to have added at least ten years to his life. He fears that she has taken the children to the river and after drowning them, has taken her own life. He was unable to give a description of the clothing or personal appearance of either wife or children, as he speaks the English language very imperfectly, being an Italian. Any information that will lead to the discovery of the missing ones will be thankfully received, and may be left at the Mayor's office.

Death of Captain Black.

We deeply regret to learn of the death of Captain S. Watson Black, which sad event transpired on Sunday last, at Hempstead, Texas. Captain Black was the only son of the late distinguished Colonel Samuel W. Black, who died at the head of his regiment at the very commencement of the seven days battle before Richmond. He served in the regular army for the past three years and though quite young when he entered the service, had ever distinguished his various appointments with credit to himself, and to the approval of his officers. While stationed at Fort Hamilton, Detroit, in Missouri, and lastly in Texas, his genial social qualities had endeared him to a large circle of friends.

On His Dignity.—Yesterday, at the Court house, a professional-official gentleman, having business with an attorney at the time engaged in Court, sent for him. Arriving in response to the summons, the legal "limb" said, "J——, what do you want with me?" With insulted dignity pictured in his countenance, and an eye like Mars, the official said, "That's not my name, sir; my name is Mr. ——, and I'll have you understand, sir, I must be so addressed." This was said in the presence of quite a number of persons. Recovering from his momentary "set back," the sent for individual replied "What do you mean, sir," adding a threat of violence for the insult offered, as he conceived it to be. The official was about to communicate his business, but failed in this as the gentleman sent for abruptly departed, uttering further remarks indicative of his feelings. Nothing of a serious nature, we are assured, will result from the occurrence.

A Big Day's Work.—The largest return ever made by any conductor on the Citizens Passenger Railway was that made by John Towell, on Thursday, during the Fair. He returned $78.55 in cash and one hundred and fifty tickets. From his returns he must have carried 1,400 passengers. He exceeds the next largest return eleven dollars. He can scarcely be accused of "knocking down."

Poisoned.—Two little boys, one of them a son of officer Hess, of Allegheny city, and the other named Stenger, were poisoned by eating May apple plant leaves, whilst playing in the vicinity of Butchery, on Sunday For a time their lives were despaired of, but we are glad to learn they are recovering.

The return of Constable James Bell, of the Fifth ward, shows that there are fifty-two drinking houses in that ward. How many of them have licenses! If all, does the republic necessitate / require them! If so, great is the capacity of the Fifth ward.

Hay Market.—One hundred and eighteen loads of hay were weighed at the Diamond Scales, Allegheny, Monday afternoon and yesterday forenoon—an unusually large number. The price ranged from fifteen to twenty dollars per ton.

Alarm.—At an early hour on Tuesday morning, flames burst forth from the smouldering ruins of Galway & Co's. malt house, on Penn street, causing an alarm of fire. They were promptly subdued.

Preacher Robbed.—Sunday afternoon last a saddle and bridle were stolen from the stable of Rev. Dr. Pressley, Washington street, Allegheny. The articles have not been recovered.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, October 1, 1867.

—Accounts differ as to the aspect of the money market. The banks having extensive country connections generally report a very close market, while in the other quarters there appears to be a partial abatement of the pressure noted a day or two ago. The interior banks are very generally drawing upon their correspondents here for legal tenders, in preparation for the quarterly statement; and although the amounts called for are not individually large, yet the aggregate is considerable. The Chicago banks appear to have reached the limit of their ability to accommodate the grain dealers, and are disposed to enforce direct purchases by the east for any further grain that may be required. The demand of currency for moving the western crops cannot be considered as having reached its limit. The amount of grain to come forward unusually large; the prices of breadstuffs are very high, and the farmers naturally, under such circumstances press forward their produce with the utmost despatch, to be realized upon. The Government is checking upon its depositories in the west, and the orders are generally responded to by drafts upon the banks of New York city.

—The Cincinnati Gazette, of Monday, says: The crop movements of the west are absorbing a large amount of currency. No less than $43,000,000 are reported to have been drawn from New York for this purpose since August 1st, over $9,000,000 of which was sent out during the past week, besides half a million sent South to aid in the movement of cotton. For the latter purpose there is not likely to be a very heavy demand for a month to come, but the drain to the west will continue, which will doubtless keep currency at 7 per cent. in New York. The Secretary of the Treasury will doubtless supply the market with currency as far as he is able, by the purchase of 5-20 bonds. Thirty notes, but judging from his past policy it is not probable that he will relieve the market by re-selling himself of the power to issue 3 per cent. certificates to take up the fifteen or twenty millions of compound interest notes falling due on October 15th. Paying them off in greenbacks will be virtually contracting the currency to that extent in the midst of the season when money is most needed. To be forewarned is to be armed, and we do not suppose any very serious results will follow if business is generally conducted with the view that the money market will continue close during the autumn months.

The demand for money continues active, and rates are firm at 8@10 per cent. for first class names. In the open market prime mercantile paper is sold at 12 per cent. Some call loans are being made at high per cent.

—Says the Chicago Tribune, of Monday: The money market was quite close to-day, and in some quarters it was repo ted bordering on stringency. The shipments of currency to the interior were quite liberal, though not on so large a scale as yesterday, and the wants of grain shippers were quite active. Some remittances were received from St. Louis, where the demand for New York funds is in excess of the supply, several of the institutions there being called to telegraph to New York. In other respects there was nothing new.

—The Philadelphia Press says: The brokers are the attention of the investing public to the subject of the conversion of the second and third series of Seven Thirties. The present, and, it is claimed, prospective price of gold renders delay in conversion unprofitable. Six per cent. in gold amounts to more than 7 3-10 in currency, while gold sells for more than 142. With gold at an average of 140 the holder of a second series $1,000 T 30 will gain $14.47 or nearly one-half per cent. by immediate conversion.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, October 1, 1867.

CATTLE.

There was a remarkably light supply of cattle on sale this week, which was owing mainly to the fact that the Hebrew drovers were not in attendance, it being a holiday with them—day upon which, according to their peculiar creed, they are obliged to abstain from all worldly employments. It is hinted in certain quarters, however, that while they were not on hand themselves, that some of them had substitutes in the pens; this, however, is doubtful, to say the least, and besides, a matter of no consequence to outsiders. As we have already intimated, there was a very small number of cattle on sale, but the supply, nevertheless, appeared to be pretty well up to the demand, which appeared to be restricted mainly to supplying the wants of the retail trade, and prices ruled about the same as last week. Prime fat retailing cattle may be quoted at 7 to 7¼, and from that down to 4 cents, according to quality. In the absence of the Hebrew dealers, the market was devoid of life or animation, and notwithstanding there was a short supply, no advance was established, nor, so far as we could learn, was any attempt made in that direction. The whole number of cattle sold did not much exceed five hundred heads, of which we give the following:

Chas. Spangler retailed 28 head of Venango county cattle at 5 to 7. This is something remarkable—cattle coming from the oil regions to the Allegheny market; heretofore, it has been no uncommon thing for Oil City butchers to get their cattle in this market.

McAllister & Co. retailed 41 head of mixed at 4½ to 7. Redfields & Byers, 30 head at 4½ to 5. Kerwin sold 12 head very common stock for Neth, at 4@4½.

M. Horner retailed 25 head Washington County cattle at 4 to 7; and P. Hartman 40 head from same locality at same prices.

In addition to the above, we were unable to get particulars of the following: Hazlewood & Grey, 10; Lafferty & Glass, 16; Carr & Co., 20; Myers & Neely, 36; Seymour, 16.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

There was again a full supply of Sheep and Lambs this week, and with no improvement in the demand, the market was dull, as usual, while prices, compared with last week, have undergone no quotable change. Sheep sold at 2 to 4 cents, gross, for fair to extra; and Lambs at from $1 to 4.50 per head, according to quality and condition.

McAllister & Co. report having retailed 120 head of Sheep and Lambs at $4.50 per head for the former, and 3½ to 4½ per head for the latter.

Rynd wholesaled 128 head Sheep, weighing 21,800, to Patterson, at 4c.

HOGS.

The market for this class of stock is more active, and as the winter approaches, the market will improve, and particularly is this the case in regard to the retail trade. Emerick & Co. report having retailed about 100 head at 6¼ to 7; and the same firm bought 11 head from Garvin at 7¼, and 9 head from Seymour at 7¼.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, October 1, 1867.

CRUDE—The market was quiet but very firm to-day, and, notwithstanding, there is but little doing, prices are well maintained. REFINED—The market is rapidly being diminished, and with but little prospect at present of a bulk rise, holders are very stiff in their views, and, as a general thing, refuse to make concessions in order to effect sales. RIVER NEWS.

One hundred and fifty-eight bales of new cotton were received at Memphis on Friday, and coming in freely.

The steamer Virginia is hard aground at Hora Lake, ten miles below Memphis, in a bad position.

The steamer J. G. Totten, which has been for some weeks past engaged in the Upper Mississippi in removing wrecks and snags, returned to St. Louis on Thursday night, after a very successful campaign, and next day started down the river.

At latest advices the Norman was aground on Shawneetown bar, and the Ada Lyon and N. W. Casey at the head of Hurricane.

The Isabella from St. Joseph are to the effect that the Missouri river was stationary at that point. The Isabella passed up on the 25th for Omaha, and the Deer Lodge for Fort Buford. The Antelope and E. P. Converse passed up on the 26th, and the Ben Johnson was expected that night.

A letter from New Orleans dated the 23d instant announces the death, in that city, of the prevailing epidemic, of William Nolan, and Hugh Davis, two well known mates in the trade between St. Louis and New Orleans.

The New Orleans Crescent, of Wednesday, has the following: Capt. John W. Tobin, a gentleman well known as commander of the favorite steamers Vicksburg and H. A. Homeyer, contributed yesterday, one hundred dollars to the Howard Association for the relief of the sick of the city. Such generosity speaks well that the heart of the giver is in the right place.

In alluding to the explosion on the steamer Illinois at St. Louis the other day, the Democrat, of that city, says:

The Illinois came out in 1866. She was built at Wheeling. The boiler which exploded was made by the Messrs. Sweeney, a well-known firm of Wheeling, who furnished, we believe, her entire machinery and boilers. Our readers may remember the explosion of the bigger boiler of the steamer St. Marys, at New Orleans, perhaps six years ago. The boiler was also put up by the Sweeneys, and the explosion of yesterday and its results, so far as its effects on boiler and steamboat, were almost identical with that of the St. Marys at New Orleans. Strange coincidence, indeed.

A captain at Memphis has been fined by the city for bringing a pauper to the city. The captain, unfortunately had forgotten to search his hand there ey instructed the city.

Memphis advices says: "Shoals and sandbars are accumulating in the Arkansas and our boats plying up that stream are very careful to avoid heavy cargoes. White river is still navigable to August for boats drawing three and a half feet. The Belle Memphis reports the river was falling rapidly between this port and Cairo. At No. 34 and Phillips' four and a half feet scant is all that can be found. At Hot Island, above Cairo, five feet is reported."

The Legal Tender was to have left New Albany for St. Louis last evening.

The New Albany Commercial says: There is not enough of the river left to afford items sufficient for a "river column." The river is falling in the response made to fall inquiries as to the depth of the water. On the falls between Louisville and Henderson from twenty-eight to thirty inches is the depth, and navigation exceedingly difficult and hazardous. No boats are running regularly except the packets, and they have lately been missing their connections oftener than usual of late.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT ON THE RIVER.—On the last trip of the steamer Dubuque from St. Louis to La Crosse there was among her passengers from this city, a German lady and her children, going to Winona to meet her husband. Her two little girls were playing on the boat for a short time, when one of them was taken sick with disease incident to the summer season, and died the next day. The ladies on the boat did all in their power for the little sufferer, but without avail. Ed. Wager, the noble hearted steward of the boat, solicited funds from the passengers, purchased a handsome metallic burial case at the landing, and in it the little corpse was placed on a barge, and with the remains of her darling, the heartstricken woman went on to meet her husband. Two days after the poor woman's other child suddenly died, and again did the faithful steward furnish a coffin. The scene, as described by an eye-witness, must have been heart-rending. The woman on the boat, a woman sat on the boat weeping and watching the little coffins on the barge as the steamer plowed the waters, starting in affright as the tridulous music of the whistles at times shook her from the double fount of grief she was giving way to. And so many there are each night watching and weeping over the coffins, as death breaks upon the blessed dreams of a mother's love.—St. Louis Dispatch.

The Memphis Appeal says: Captain Jas. L. Bissell, who formerly commanded a steamboat in these waters, and recently run the trade between St. Louis and Memphis, is a bankrupt in St. Louis. He has retired from business in a financial way. A friend of ours, who owns a claim against Bissell for $450, received a registere's notice saying that the register's assets are $263, and the amount of debt named $699.27.

The New Orleans Commercial Bulletin is responsible for the following:

A good story is told at the expense of a belle upon one of the boats which cross the lake. She had arisen in the morning and had commenced dressing. Looking out of the window, she saw a steward coming with all her force to the door. It, supposing it to be shut on the inner side. It was just the reverse, however, and her astonishment may be imagined at finding herself running half way down the main cabin into a crowd of gentlemen before she could attain her speed.

PROSPECTUS.

A number of the leading Bankers and Merchants of New York, in consideration of the great success which has attended many of the public Gift Enterprises lately inaugurated of the day, have formed themselves into a company, which will conduct the following enterprise which, while it shall return them a fair profit, shall offer greater advantages to the public than any yet attempted; and while being conducted upon a perfectly legitimate and honorable basis, shall be free from those objectionable features which have characterized many of these enterprises.

The Company have consigned the sale of tickets and the rendering of the same to Clark, Webster & Co., 62 Broadway, N. Y., and 37 Wood Street, Pittsburgh. New York, who will keep the receipts in a fireproof vault, until the day of Make Up Assortment Entertainment, when they will be handed over to a Committee selected by the audience to make an impartial distribution of Prizes.

In reference to the number of presents and the general plan of distribution, given below, will say—none even the most sceptical of the great value of the same, and the liberality with which it is intended to the enterprise; and the Commercial and Financial standing of the Managers and Managers thereof. Will, they hope, prove a sufficient guarantee of the fairness and impartiality with which everything in connection with it will be conducted, and that no interests of ticket holders will be in any manner slighted over and guarded. In fact, it is the desire of the Managers to conduct every operation for the mutual benefit of whoever shall purchase a ticket, and scrupulously to avoid any and everything which may in the slightest degree diminish the profits which are likely to accrue to all who invest.
